Training & Events

The university offers full training in open science. In addition to the existing programmes, you can request bespoke training for your UFR, your research unit, your project, or even individually.

Several agents and services on campus provide open science training :

- Bretagne-Pays de la Loire URFIST
- SCD
- MSHB

A variety of training courses are available :

- For all audiences or for specific audiences: students, doctoral students, academic staff, research support staff.
- Several formats are possible: workshops, talks, lectures, either in person or as videoconferences.

Additionally, there are many training webinars provided by other bodies that are open to everyone.

You will find all these courses and events listed on the SOcle calendar.

The SOcle support team can also put together bespoke training for a research unit, research team, or an individual.
